

kamel mennour

From Home

Online Viewing Room

kamel mennour[↳]

From Home

Online Viewing Room

From April 3rd to 20th, 2020

To stay connected during this time, we have worked on ways to extend our program and bring it to you online. As many of us have to stay at home at the moment, it is a good time to question our relationship with the most intimate place in our daily lives: home.

Let's have a look at how artists have tackled this concept and try to understand each room of the domestic space and the objects that compose them. Artists frequently use domestic tools and appliances as props or ready-mades in their practice. Some also invent new ways of defining intimacy and comfort, making home both a place, a feeling, and a great think tank for artists. Their work poetically portrays the emotional gaze we have on our most familiar environment. This first Online Viewing Room offers a contextual presentation of 25 works by the gallery's artists. Please enjoy walking through it from the comfort of your couch!

The exhibition « From Home » is accessible online:

<https://viewingroom.kamelmennour.com>

«The house shelters day-dreaming, the house protects the dreamer, the house allows one to dream in peace.»

Gaston Bachelard, Poetics of Space

«Soft harmony, muffled silence reigned in this room. No high note, no metallic reflection or bright gilding broke into the dreamy scale of pink and grey. »

Émile Zola, The Rush for the Spoil

with

Neil Beloufa

Marie Bovo

Daniel Buren

Latifa Echakhch

Michel François

Petrit Halilaj

Camille Henrot

Anish Kapoor

Tadashi Kawamata

Alicja Kwade

Bertrand Lavier

Claude Lévêque

Matthew Lutz-Kinoy

Martin Parr

Ugo Rondinone

Tatiana Trouvé

Press contact: Jeanne Barral
jeanne@kamelmennour.com